

JetBrains Git Client EAP Terms of Service

Version 1.0, effective as of June 11, 2025

1. My participation in the Git Client Closed Preview Program is conditional upon my acceptance of the JetBrains EAP User Agreement, General Research Terms and Conditions and Code of Conduct. JetBrains will process any personal data in accordance with applicable laws and the JetBrains Privacy Policy. By signing up for the Git Client Research Preview Program I confirm I accept these terms.
2. My name, email address, and Discord username (if provided) may be used by JetBrains for the purpose of direct communication about Git Client Research Preview Program activities via email or Discord (if I join).
3. JetBrains may terminate my membership in the Git Client Research Preview Program at any time if I violate the JetBrains EAP User Agreement, General Research Terms and Conditions, or Code of Conduct.
4. JetBrains may invite me to a moderated interview or usability study session conducted via Google Meet or Zoom, which may be recorded and processed in accordance with the General Research Terms and Conditions.
5. JetBrains may process data collected through feedback forms, moderated interviews, or usability studies using third-party services for the purpose of user research, in accordance with the JetBrains Privacy Policy.
6. During the Git Client Research Preview Program, JetBrains will not collect any information about my projects, code, or any other personal data unless I explicitly and willingly share such information.